Rainfall: The rainfall in March was in 2 halves with the first half being very wet and the second half very dry. Overall March was drier than average and with the lockdown in place the first 2 weeks of April have had no significant rain at all. The same is true for most of the UK for this period.

Temperatures: The temperatures for March and particularly April have been well above average with a record high temperature for April of 25.3 degK on 11th April. The sunshine totals have also been higher than normal which has been good for getting our daily exercise.

Weather elsewhere: Tromso in northern Norway had 170 cm of snow in early April close to record amounts. Tornadoes and a big depression hit the south eastern US with dozens killed on 13th April. In contrast a drought, equal to the worst to have hit the western US in recorded history, is already under way, say scientists.
